Key submission guidelines

Original submissions (6000 words for full research-based conference papers; 3000 words for case studies and other types of contributions listed above) will be subject to double-blind peer review and must meet the publication standards and editorial requirements of The African Journal of Information and Communication. Authors are expected to implement appropriate revisions and extensions to the original submission, including revisions advised by the peer reviewers. Extended abstracts of the accepted papers for the AJIC will also be included in the peer reviewed conference proceedings. Please see the detailed submission guidelines available at http://www.wits.ac.za/linkcentre/ajic/submission-guidelines/

Referencing: The journal follows APA reference style. Authors can familiarise themselves with APA style at www.apastyle.org noting, in particular, the online tutorial and blog. Please submit all papers to https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=threat2019
